Solar Eclipse Day

We are looking forward to an exciting Solar Eclipse Day experience at Victory on Monday! If you choose to keep your child home on Monday, August 21, 2017, this day will be considered an excused absence and this day will not be factored into perfect attendance (a one-day exception only).

Please be sure to return the permission slip sent home via email and with your child. If your plans change between now and Monday (or if you already submitted the permission slip and the information above regarding the attendance policy changes the preference you selected), please notify your child's teacher via email. If we do not receive the permission slip or we are not notified that your student will be absent, it will be considered an unexcused absence.

Medication Policy Reminder

Updated medication forms are found under the Policies section on our website. Your child may not have medication on their person (including an inhaler) without submitting these important forms.
